HISTORICAL MARKERS AS EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

Visitors and residents alike can explore the Georgia Historical Marker Program through an online database and mobile app. Users can search for markers and create driving trails based on individual interests. The Georgia Historical Marker Program is also an excellent way to incorporate history in the classroom setting. To further explore how markers may be used in the classroom, check GHS's "Markers in the Classroom" guide available at georgiahistory.com/markers.

THE GEORGIA HISTORICAL MARKER PROGRAM

Roadside historical markers can be found throughout Georgia, sharing the stories of our past in an easily identifiable and understandable format. The Georgia Historical Society (GHS) has administered Georgia's historical marker program since 1998, erecting over 250 new historical markers across the state on a wide variety of subjects. GHS also recently assumed responsibility for the maintenance of more than 2,100 markers previously erected by the state.

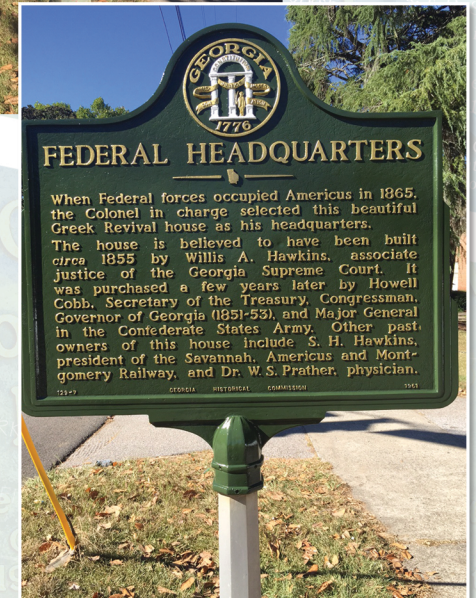

ERECTING NEW MARKERS

The Georgia Historical Society produces and erects new historical markers each year, working in partnership with community organizations, municipalities, and businesses. The process for obtaining a new historical marker is competitive and requires the submission of application materials. For more information about applying for a historical marker, program guidelines, cost, and other frequently asked questions, please visit georgiahistory.com/markers.

MAINTAINING OLDER MARKERS

The State of Georgia, through various agencies, erected approximately 2,100 historical markers from the early 1950s until the mid-1990s, creating a lasting legacy in every region of Georgia. Recently tasked with their maintenance, GHS works continuously to repair historical markers so they can continue to inform and educate the public for many years to come. If you have discovered a missing or damaged Georgia historical marker, please fill out our online form to let us know by visiting georgiahistory.com/markers.
